Join John Weeren, director of Princeton Writes, and Amy Pszczolkowski, associate director of graduate career services, in a safe and supportive environment to build upon your public speaking skills. In this fun and interactive session, everyone will have an opportunity to practice and learn from one another, developing verbal fluency and confidence through collective feedback. We will be meeting monthly throughout the spring: April 15, May 20, June 24, July 15 and Aug. 19. Come when you are able, and you do not need to commit to all sessions. Please bring a lunch and we’ll provide the dessert.